A(H1N1)V "SWINE INFLUENZA" PANDEMIC KITS

What is the influenza A(H1N1)v virus?

The present influenza A(H1N1)v virus is a new virus subtype of influenza affecting humans, which contains segments of genes from pig, bird and human influenza viruses in a combination that has never been observed before anywhere in the world. New viruses are often the result of a re-assortment of genes from two other viruses (swap of genes). This A(H1N1)v virus is the result of a combination of two swine influenza viruses that contained genes of avian and human origin.

How is the Virus Spread

Flu viruses are spread mainly from person to person through coughing or sneezing of people with influenza. Sometimes people may become infected by touching something with flu viruses on it and then touching their mouth or nose.
